Jury Still Pondering Over Fate Of "Fatty" Arbuckle

19-Hour Stay Has Failed To Bring Verdict

Comedian Spends an Anxious Morning Hoping to Learn Whether He Faces Prison Sentence or is Acquitted of Actress' Murder.

By United Press Leased Wire
San Francisco—Nineteen hours, ending soon after 11 a. m. Saturday, had failed to bring from the jury any decision on the guilt or innocence of Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle, famed film comedian on trial for manslaughter.

Arbuckle spent an anxious morning, talking to groups of friends, smoking cigarettes and walking the corridor with a big policeman. His wife, Minta Durfee, remained quietly in the courtroom.

The only flurry of the morning occurred at 11 a. m. when a bailiff suddenly called the court to order and Judge Harold Louderback stepped to the bench.

But hopes, which rose high, were immediately dashed when the judge called a short calendar of routine cases and adjourned court again.

It was understood the judge was then leaving the hall of justice pending call from the jury.

While Arbuckle paced the corridors, Bambina Maud Delmont, the "avenger" who swore to the complaint and sent him to trial, was in a cell on the floor above the courtroom, awaiting removal to Madera, Calif., for trial for "alleged" bigamy. She had been in jail since Friday unable to raise bail.

RESUMED THIS MORNING
Refreshed by a night's sleep at a hotel under the watchful eyes of a squad of bailiffs, the jury decided the future of Fatty Arbuckle returned to the hall of justice shortly before 10 a. m. to resume its deliberations.

The jury hesitated a moment on the way to the courtroom to catch a glimpse of Marshal Foch, who had arrived in San Francisco and headed a great parade up Market-st.

Spectators and the defendant Arbuckle did the same thing. Fatty's car rolled down Market-st. and stood a minute unnoticed while the big comedian doffed his hat to the hero of the great war.

Reports were in circulation that twelve ballots had been taken. The rumors were becoming more varied, some having it 9 to 3 for acquittal on the twelfth ballot.

Rumors had it that one woman was holding out for conviction and the other members of the jury were for acquittal. But there seemed to be no conceivable way for such information to come out of the jury room and it had to be put down as rumor—or propaganda.

PACKERS BELIEVE STRIKE ON MONDAY WILL BE FAILURE

More Unions Order Members to Walk Out—Kansas Workers Ignore Court

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago—Strike of unionized packer employees of the country called for Monday, gained new impetus Saturday when the Mechanical Trade and Butcher Workmen's union ordered its members to walk out.

Packers were confident of beating the strike. They have trimmed their forces in preparation for it since Sept. 15, when the Alschuler agreement under which the men were working, expired. They expected a strike and believed they would be able to win because of unemployment conditions.

Armour and company announced that any man who strikes will lose all claim to his job and all seniority rights. Other packers took similar action.

Dennis Lane, secretary of the union, declared the strike was called only after every effort to settle difficulties peacefully had been exhausted. He declared the packers refused to recognize the union. The basis of the strike call was aggravated by wage cuts, laying off of men without regard to length of service, and general harsh methods of dealing with employees.

KANSAS CITY, Kan.—Representatives of packer unions Saturday ignored attempts of the Kansas industrial court to intervene in Kansas in the packer strike.

JAPS WILLING TO WITHDRAW FROM SHANTUNG AREA

France and Britain Show Willingness to Give up Leaseholds in China

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington—France and Great Britain Saturday formally offered to withdraw from leased territories in China, Japan, explaining her position in Manchuria, said she was willing to discuss withdrawal from Manchuria.

China asked relinquishment of the Japanese leaseholds on Port Arthur and Dairen (obtained as spoils of the Russo-Japanese war) but the Japanese contended so much investment of money and development had been made there that they could not see how they could give up the leases.

The British declined to give up their leasehold near Hongkong.

The French, British and Japanese action was taken at the meeting of the Far Eastern committee of the arms conference which for the first time took up the question of leased territories and spheres of influence in China. Viviani for France presented a resolution providing for withdrawal of all foreign nations from leased territories. The French position was explained by Viviani was that France would withdraw if the other nations would.

The British delegation expressed a willingness to withdraw on the same conditions. The Japanese said they would withdraw from Shantung but could not at present get out of Manchuria.

The matter went over for further discussion.

Dominion Status Within One Year is Proposed by Lloyd George With Permission for Ulster to Enter After Six Months.

London—Sinn Fein has been offered an "Irish free state" within the empire, with a legal dominion status effective one year from the date of its acceptance and the provision that Ulster can enter after six months, the London Times declared here Saturday in a supposed outline of the details of the latest offer of Premier Lloyd George.

The plan, being considered by the Dail cabinet in Dublin Saturday, specifies that Ulster would retain all her financial rights, it was stated.

The details of the proposals as outlined by the Times are:

Ulster shall collect all revenues, remitting any surplus to an all-Irish parliament.

The all-Irish council could not tax raw materials or imports from Great Britain.

There shall be no religious endowments made by the parliament.

No qualifications of the agreement could be changed by action of the parliament after acceptance.

Ireland would have a triple oath of allegiance to "the Irish free state, the empire and the king."

BOUNDARY BOARD
Ireland and Ulster would have territorial armies proportionately.

A boundary commission of three representatives from England, Sinn Fein and Ulster will be appointed.

The south of Ireland shall submit the proposals to a general election before the all-Irish parliament can be established.

Unofficial predictions were made here that if Sinn Fein accepts the proposals, Britain will enforce them regardless of Ulster without attempt to "coerce" her.

Dublin—The Sinn Fein cabinet met here Saturday to hear the reports of its London peace delegates on the latest offer of Premier Lloyd George.

A favorable decision will lay the basis for renewed hope but if the plan is rejected serious consequences were feared.

COUNTY'S TAX RATE HIGHER THAN IN 1920

Tax Rate for Appleton Lower in All Wards Except in Third and Fifth

The tax rate for the city of Appleton was definitely fixed by the common council at its meeting Friday evening after receiving the levy which the city must raise for county and state purposes. The rate is lower than in 1920 in all the wards except the Third and Fifth where there is an increase of 30 cents on each thousand dollars of property valuation. This is due to a substantial increase in the assessment for ward school purposes.

The county's share of the tax levy this year is $179,068.88. The state tax is $47,214.17 and the county school tax totals $21,556.19, making a total of $106,787.34, requiring a tax rate of $9.60 for each $1,000 of taxable property in the city, as compared with $9.09 a year ago.

The tax rate for general city purposes this year is $12 per $1,000 of property valuation as against 12.60 in 1920 and the high school rate is $5.48 as compared with $6.05 a year ago.

All the school districts with the exception of the Third reduced the levy for school expenses, indicating that the only increase in taxation this year comes from county and state sources.

Following is the rate in each of the districts and last year's rate.

Ward	Total 1921	Total 1920
First	$34.44	$35.65
Second	32.12	32.60
Third	32.90	32.60
Fourth	32.58	34.24

JUSTICE KILLS FLEEING BANDIT

By United Press Leased Wire
Robbinsdale, Minn.—Menaced by a bandit's gun, Justice of the Peace V. D. Crandall shot him down on the street here late Friday and recovered $1,500 the man had just taken from the Security State bank. The man was identified as G. G. Farrell of Minneapolis.

With a mask over his eyes, the man entered the bank when Paul Owen, 24, and Miles Currie McDougall were alone. He thrust a gun at Owen and demanded money. When he turned his head Miss McDougall stepped on the burglar's alarm. The man fled. A. B. Wallace, real estate dealer, borrowed a revolver. Justice of the Peace Crandall accompanied him. They called to the bandit to halt. He drew a gun. Crandall grabbed the gun from the bandit and fired. The bandit walked on a hundred feet and fell dead.

EAST COUNCIL OF NATIONS IS PLANNED NOW

Organization is Proposed to See That Pacific Principles Are Carried Out

HAVE MADE START ALREADY

China is Eager for Governing Force Which Will Assure Peaceful Adjustments

By David Lawrence
Copyright, 1921, by Post Pub. Co.
Washington—An eastern council of nations now appears as the objective of the governments gathered here to discuss Far East questions.

The same nine powers who are trying to establish a set of principles to guide each other in their commercial, financial and political relations with respect to the Pacific will be ultimately grouped in an organization to see to it that the principles adopted at Washington are fairly applied.

The United States government in its original invitation endeavored to include all nations which might possibly have interests in the Far East with the exception of Russia. When the Russians get a stable government, they too would be invited to join.

In other words, this development of an association of nine or ten nations for a precise object—the tranquilization of the Far East—is in line with President Harding's theory that international conference can bring about cooperation not merely for the moment when the problems are laid on the table but subsequently when disputes arise as to the meaning or interpretation of principles.

NEED UNDERSTANDING
Mr. Harding's idea is that world peace can be materially assisted by regional understandings as well as by periodic conference of all nations. He summoned five powers, to participate in the limitation of naval armament because they alone seemed to be the factors in such a problem. Similarly the nine powers called to discuss the Far East were the only ones when the Far Eastern settlement was vital. In the same sense Mr. Harding has taken occasion to refer to the organization created by the Versailles treaty as "the European League of Nations."

The president has let it be known that he believes the league should abide because it has a definite value for Europe. Probably if he were asked to define his attitude toward Central and South America he would say that the Monroe doctrine and the Pan American understandings of the last generation had developed an association of the nations of the western hemisphere.

There has already been one significant indication that the nine powers were working toward this objective. It was the appointment of a commission to study the question of giving up non-territorial rights. All powers have agreed to the principle of abandoning those rights but the commission must determine exactly when the Chinese judicial authorities are competent to protect foreigners and their disputes. This commission is composed of representatives of each of the governments in session here but the commission will have to report to a conference of powers.

The Chinese themselves are eager for such a permanent conference to be established and the proposal has been given favorable consideration on every side. Already its value has been apparent even in adjusting matters of direct concern to two powers such as the Shantung dispute. While it is true that China and Japan are conducting the negotiations, the fact is the United States and Great Britain are keeping an eye on the negotiations ready to lend a hand and propose compromises at the proper moment.

Two-hour Meeting of Hughes, Balfour and Kato Ends with Far East Menace

STOP FORTIFYING PACIFIC

Kato Cables His Government to Secure Approval on 60 Per Cent Navy

By A. L. Bradford
Copyright 1921 by United Press
Washington—The Anglo-Japanese alliance is scrapped.

The United States, Great Britain, Japan and France enter into an understanding to take the place of the alliance.

Japan, in view of the above conditions, accepts the "5-5-3" naval limitation plan of the United States.

These momentous steps in world affairs, the most important that have been taken in the present conference on limitation of armament, have been virtually decided on by Hughes for the United States, Balfour for Great Britain, and Kato, for Japan. It was learned Saturday on highest authority.

NEED HOME APPROVAL
This is a virtual decision because these steps have been submitted to the home governments concerned by the delegates here, and only final word of approval from some of the governments is necessary before they are put in definite shape, promptly signed to the world and formally adopted.

These great decisions were reached informally in a two hour conference Friday evening between the "big three" of the United States, Great Britain and Japan—Hughes, Balfour and Kato.

Thus and so, it is believed the most important question before the limitation of armament conference. These steps by the great world statesmen mean that the menace of the Anglo-Japanese alliance to the United States is to be removed; that war between the United States and Japan is to be made nearly impossible and that the Hughes plan for limitation of naval armament is to be definitely accepted.

PLEDGE PEACE
The "understanding" between the United States, Great Britain, Japan and France is to have two main parts, the United Press is informed, as follows:

1. That these great powers pledge themselves to observe and maintain to the best of their ability the peace of the Pacific and the Far East.

2. To further that end and to lessen the chances of conflict among themselves, these powers agree to the non-fortification of the Pacific islands.

Admiral Baron Kato, chief of the Japanese delegation, Friday night immediately after the conference of the "big three" sent an urgent, secret cable message to his government in Tokyo asking authorization to accept the 60 per cent naval ratio for Japan on the above stated conditions.

The entire plan seems to be up to Tokyo, and Japan is expected to accept. A reply will be a few days coming from Tokyo.

FORMAL SESSION SOON
The next plenary session of the conference will be a momentous one. It is then that Secretary Hughes is expected to announce an accomplished fact, the understanding between the four great powers to take the place of the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

Hughes probably will preface his expected speech with the announcement, if this is not made beforehand, that not only Great Britain but also Japan, the "big three" of the conference, have accepted the "5-5-3" capital ship plan of the American program for limitation of naval armament which gives Japan a navy 60 per cent as great as that of the United States and Great Britain—the heart of the Hughes proposal.

Members of the French delegation have conferred with the "big three" on the decisions which have been developed and it is understood that France is in entire accord with what is being done.

There are to be no warlike clauses in the new understanding such as exist in the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

The part of the understanding regarding non-fortification of the Pacific islands will involve dismantling to a certain extent of some of the existing fortifications, and a pledge by the three great naval powers and France not to fortify further their many Pacific islands. It is understood.

OPPOSES DOCTORS WHO WANT TO BAR DR. LORENZ

Chicago—Lolita Armour Milne, daughter of the millionaire packer and Chicago's wealthy woman, Saturday led the fight against doctors who have closed doors of Chicago hospitals to Dr. Adolf Lorenz, world famous orthopedic surgeon.

Chicago Surgeons Ban Doctor Lorenz

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago—Doors of Chicago hospitals were closed Saturday to Dr. Adolf Lorenz, noted Vienna orthopedic surgeon.

Applications to local hospitals to permit Dr. Lorenz, who is now in New York, to hold clinics in Chicago hospitals were turned down. It was here that Dr. Lorenz gained his greatest fame and fee when he was claimed to have cured Lolita Armour of a hip disease from which she had been suffering for years, for $100,000.

A statement issued by the orthopedic surgeons of Chicago gave the following as reasons for their opposing Dr. Lorenz's visit:

"That although he has claimed publicly he came to America to 'pay back this country for help given starving Austrian children, he has admitted in letters to friends the real reason is to retrieve his personal fortunes."

FEAR HYSTERIA
Because Chicago doctors "look with disfavor on newspaper notoriety of the loose, sensational type."

Because of danger of arousing hysteria among many cripples, leading to bitter disappointment if they are not cured.

That after Dr. Lorenz left following his first visit, those "who came in contact with many cases upon which he had operated saw results which they were glad they were not responsible for."

That results obtained by Americans are "just as good."

That if the Dr. Lorenz visit "can be put over," it will not be long before similar visits can be expected from representatives of other medical clinics.

Doctors pointed out that no European nation recognizes the right of an American physician to practice there. They declared when Dr. John E. Murphy, performed his famous "bullet operation" in Rome, he was forced to operate on a dog.

By United Press Leased Wire

The fire and police board Friday night received a petition from citizens asking recall of the letter of Nov. 12 asking for Chief Nolan's resignation, and criticizing the publicity given the police action to recall the demand for Nolan's resignation was passed with but one dissenting vote—that of Mayor Haentze. The mayor's resignation followed.

SAY MARTIN DENIES CHARGES WERE FILED

Milwaukee—Thomas Martin, Green Day, federal enforcement officer, Saturday is alleged to have denied that charges had been filed against him, saying he had been removed from office with a possibility of his being removed altogether.

Prohibition officials, however, are said to maintain that charges have been filed. Status of the charges reported to have been preferred have not been made public.

DECIDE IF MILWAUKEE WILL ADMIT DR. LORENZ

Milwaukee—Whether Dr. Adolf Lorenz, noted Vienna orthopedic surgeon will be barred from holding clinics in Milwaukee, will be decided next Thursday evening at a meeting of the Milwaukee County Medical society at the Milwaukee County Medical as Saturday.

The closing arguments and jury instructions from the court are expected to occupy less than two hours Saturday, after which the case will go to the jury and a verdict is expected any time after noon.

Bar Office Seekers As N. P. League Members

By United Press Leased Wire
Minneapolis—The National Nonpartisan league may cease to be a political organization next year.

This information was given the United Press Saturday on reliable authority.

Instead of nominating candidates for political offices the league in the future will merely endorse candidates for office, it was reported.

This will be a reversion to the original plans of Arthur C. Townley, originator and president of the league. It will eliminate office seeking from the organization—the one thing that disrupted the league in North Dakota and resulted in the recall of Nonpartisan office holders in that state last October.

Townley expects to take charge of the reorganization of the league when he has served his 30-day sentence in Jackson county jail for violating the espionage laws. The North Dakota state convention of the league has been deferred until after Townley's release early in February.

Since the league swallowed up the Republican party in North Dakota five years ago, scores of league members have become officeholders. Many of them have "turned traitor," according to Townley. The league has suffered from too many office seekers, he believes. If his plans carry, this situation will be avoided.

Politicians in both states fear the league as an independent organization more than as a political party. If independent and nonpolitical, the league, it is believed, would hold a "balance of power" in either state.

Under the new plan, it is reported, the league would work along the lines of the Anti-Saloon league—a body without candidates, but endorsing candidates.

M'CARTHY SAYS HE WAS THREATENED AT BLACK'S HOME

Kaukauna Chief of Police Tells of Black's Troubles With Neighbors

An adjournment in the trial of Black-Rector case was taken at 11:30 Tuesday morning until 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in order to make it possible for Judge Park and the attorneys to reach home Saturday night and to dispose of other matters before their return.

The last witness called was John Coppes, former mayor of Kaukauna, who at the time of the night raids was a member of the executive committee of Outagamie county council of defense and also acted as its treasurer.

Mr. Coppes said he took no active part in the solicitation of subscriptions for liberty bonds and was not at the Black home on the night in question. He had known Black since 1897 but had very little dealings with him. He regarded him as peculiar in many ways.

SOUGHT DR. RECTOR
John Balliet, one of the defendants said he served as a committeeman on the council of defense and went to Kaukauna on the night of Oct. 19 to see Dr. Rector. Someone went with him but he could not recall who it was. His first stop was at LaSalle hotel and from there he went to Black's residence and then to Black's home. He related what happened inside and said that was not to exceed 15 persons there. He did not know he was to visit the Black home when he left Appleton.

Richard McCarthy, chief of police of Kaukauna, told of being called to the Black home on several occasions and of being threatened with a butcher knife on his last visit. This happened a few days before he was taken to Oshkosh. He said Black was frequently in trouble with his neighbors and that he was often called there to serve papers. Joseph Jansen and Benjamin Prugh, of Kaukauna, defendants, testified as to their connection with the night raid. Among the other witnesses called were James Coenen, Mrs. Henry Vandenberg, Michael Jacobson, Henry Posters and Judge A. M. Spencer.

New Store Complies With City Planning Suggestion

City planning ideals are strikingly exemplified in a store building erected at the corner of College-ave. and Mason-st. by Henry Honeck, and residing of that locality are commending the action.

Mr. Honeck happened to talk with O. F. Weissgerber, city engineer, about the time the building was to be erected. The latter suggested that it be built back on the lot in conformity to the residence line on both streets, and that it be built to resemble a house rather than the customary high front, flat-roofed store building.

The civic pride in Mr. Honeck and the utility of the idea led him to build in this way. His store looks like any residence at first glance, with a lawn surrounding it and a porch on the front. He has his display windows, however, and the usual store space, with livingrooms at the rear and above.

Should Mr. Honeck decide to give up his business, he can easily convert the entire building into a residence. It is estimated that property in the vicinity of the store will depreciate little because of the appearance of the structure as compared to the usual store which shuts off the view and detracts from the desirability of a locality.

Appleton's city plan probably will embody these very requirements when it is completed, but the owner of the new store was glad to apply the suggestions without any legal requirement.

Shoemaker of Appleton, Wis., against Hartington, Neb., citizens whom Shoemaker charges abused him after he had made a Nonpartisan league speech in April, 1920. Counsel for Mr. Shoemaker, who alleges that and feathers were used on him, objected to testimony concerning American Legion membership, but the court overruled him, declaring that to rule such testimony out would be "obscuring the facts."

Shoemaker formerly was a resident of New London but now lives at 684 Meade-st. in this city. He was a

POTATO PRICES DOWN AS BETTER SPUDS ARE SOLD

Farmers Begin Bringing in Potatoes Held for Higher Prices

Potato prices here have decreased on an average of 25 cents a hundred pounds in Appleton markets during the last week or ten days. Potato prices now range from $1.35 to $1.50 per bushel in the local markets. The decrease in prices is attributed to the fact that farmers in this vicinity have started to bring in portions which they had been holding in the expectation prices would soar. They knew the crop was not up to the standard because it was stunted by early frost and fearing the spuds would not keep, they decided to move a portion now rather than lose later.

Publishing firm with national reputation wishes reliable persons to represent them in this city. Call HOTEL SHERMAN, Monday. Ask for MISS HORNESDAY.

Some local merchants are of the opinion that the present stock of spuds is far superior to those brought in early in the season. "Evidently farmers sold their inferior and green potatoes on the early market and stored their best spuds for a higher price. It is the opinion of local potato dealers that farmers still have the best potatoes in their cellars and that the better quality will be seen from now on."

"At present farmers are not marketing any more potatoes than is necessary to meet their current expenses," said H. Rademacher, 801 Superior street. "The potatoes brought in now are of better grade. Some of the potatoes now on the market are immature and a little green and will not keep through the spring. I think prices will rise during the spring and that the month of June will see the market price of spuds reach $2 and $2.25 per bushel for the best grades."

"We buy all of our potatoes from farmers in the vicinity of Appleton and find that the quality is improving with each purchase," said S. Schaefer of the Schaefer Bros. grocery, 1008 College ave. Evidently the better grades were stored in the producers' cellars and the inferior and green potatoes put on the market. I think that the retail price per bushel will soon be available."

"Farmers are moving their inferior grades of spuds fearing that they will not survive the winter months declared R. L. Hermann, 1081 College ave. "I am of the opinion that price of potatoes will drop during the winter months and the early spring."

"Our present supply of potatoes comes from the northern part of Wisconsin and are of a superior quality, although the prices are a trifle higher than for the locally grown product," said G. E. Wichman of the Wichman Bros. company. A new government estimate of the country's potato crop is expected to be issued about Dec. 9. This will be the final estimate and the figures given out then will be used as a basis for estimating future operations in potatoes during the remainder of the season. The estimate issued November 1 showed smaller crop than two years ago when prices reached an extreme height in the spring.

Would Locate Home For Aged Druggists Here

Letters asking aid in locating a suitable site for a building to house aged drug clerks were received by the chamber of commerce from the National Association of Drug Clerks. The site must be in a territory where the home could be self-sustaining. Members of the chamber of commerce are doing what they can to bring the institution to Appleton.

The tract of land should have lake frontage and contain from two to five hundred acres and with soil adapted to the growing of botanical drugs. They also require the land to have a good supply of spring water, the sale of which will bring a fair income.

Why Not Pass That Dreary Afternoon At Womans Club?

Is Sunday the day when you busy working girls plan to do a lot of little things that you simply cannot get to during the week and then do you have that wonderfully satisfying feeling of leisure and "I'm my own boss," when you do not get them finished cause something more pleasant comes along and keeps you from them?

Now, for the secret, which really isn't a secret at all, but that doesn't spill it one bit. If you are dissatisfied with your own Sunday afternoon plans, why do you not try the Sunday afternoon cozy at the Appleton Womans clubroom? The room is open at 2:30 every Sunday afternoon. The director in charge usually plans some reading program, a little bit of singing and the girls who gather there decide what they want to do. Sometimes one or two will pop corn or make candy, while others sit about in comfortable chairs under shaded lights and read, some one plays the piano and one may really join with the society editor of the Post-Crescent in assuring you that "a good time was had by all."

RECORD CROP FROM NEW SEED CORN

First National Bank Helping Farmers Improve Their Corn Yield

What pedigree seed corn can accomplish is shown by an interesting exhibit in the lobby of the First National bank, where specimens grown from 10-pound lots of seed furnished 80 farmers last spring are shown.

Two attractively arranged racks display ears of record size and uniformity, with names of the owners.

attached. The corn will be shown for about two weeks. Two model sets of 10 ears will be selected by Paul O. Nyhus, farm agent, to show the average person what really constitutes extra good corn.

The bank last spring offered to provide farmers with 10 pounds of Golden Glow seed if these people would agree to raise corn to be used for seed purposes only the year following. The seed was obtained from Green Bay men who won the state corn contest with a yield of 133 bushels of shelled corn to the acre.

Farmers have become enthused over the results obtained from using pedigree corn. They found not only that the cobs were of record size and uniformity, but that the stalks and leaves developed to larger proportions, providing more silage from the same acreage. The story of better corn is spreading because neighbors of these 80 farmers are asking for some of the product for seed next spring.

ADVISES STUDY OF U. S. BASIC LAWS

Attorney Keller Addresses Blackstonian Fraternity at College

Advising all law students to make a careful study of the history and the debates surrounding the constitution of the United States, Attorney L. Hugo Keller addressed the Blackstonian fraternity of Lawrence college Thursday evening in Main hall on the subject as law as a profession. Attorney Keller said that since the constitution is the basis of all United States law, the student can do no better than to master it.

In the course of his speech, the young attorney told of the growing materialism in nation and social life. He decried the alarming number of divorces in recent years as an indication of the business in social life which causes an indifference to law enforcement among the people of the United States. The members of the club, who are the pre-law students in the college, asked the attorney many questions concerning the practice of law at the close of the meeting.

"We are caring for children we find homeless in Wisconsin and are providing for children we find destitute or neglected regardless of age," the superintendent said to the board.

Womans Club Can Use Those Old Records

The over worked phrase from the society column of The Podunk Weekly, "the evening was spent in conversation and phonograph music," could never be said about a party at the clubroom of Appleton Womans club. Neither could it be said that "music was furnished for the evening, spent in dancing, by a phonograph."

"Why," you will say, "I'm sure that there is a phonograph in the room. Yes, I know there is, it was donated by Schlitz Bros."

And so it was and is. The Womans club owns about 10 records, which you see would last only a fraction of an evening for amusement. These include a few antiquated dance numbers, one or two artists' records and the rest is a miscellany. Not that the girls depend on the phonograph entirely for dancing and to fill in moments of rest, but after all, records are rather nice, are they not? That is just what the girls think and have been thinking, but they have not said what they think out loud until now! They told me, so I'll pass it along. They think that it is too bad that some people have records, dance, popular songs, artists' numbers, classical records, which they do not use, while the big room at the club where so many girls could and would use them has only 10 more than none.

If you would call the clubroom about those that you want to give someone probably could come to call for them. They did not tell me that they would, but knowing them pretty well, I'm going on my own to say so.

As this would be a national law if passed, Mr. Corbett said the industries would not leave Wisconsin as the law would apply to all states, and could not see the point of the Milwaukee association.

SIX STUDENTS WIN "SPIRIT" PRIZES

Better Spirit Week Ends With Program—Humorist Entertains Crowd

Kaukauna—Better spirit week in Kaukauna high school ended Friday afternoon with a program in which the students and faculty showed more school spirit than at any other time in the history of the school.

Prizes were awarded to six students for their efforts in composing plays, slogans and songs. Three of the winners were presented with handsome banners with the insignia and colors of the high school worked upon them and three were presented with orange and black ribbons attached to canes. Rueden Goese and Mark Griffith were given the prize for composing the best play, Harold Derus won the prize for the best school song. It consisted of words written to the melody of "One Land United". John Parent composed the best school yell. Only two of the yells submitted were considered by the judges. Both were adopted. Marion Newton who wrote the slogan "No spirit—no school", received a prize. Eugene Van Able was awarded a prize as the maker of the best school spirit poster.

The program consisted of a variety of stunts put on by each class and the faculty. Frank Younger, former physics teacher, now teaching in Appleton, was a speaker.

HUMORIST IS PLEASING
Harold Newton Pearson, humorist, reader and impersonator, gave an entertainment Friday evening at the auditorium before a large audience of students but very few citizens. Mr. Pearson praised the work being done in this city by the high school and expressed his regret that parents of students were not present at the program in the afternoon.

The first part of his program consisted of readings and selections. His presentation of Kipling's "Gunga Din" was fine. Mr. Pearson gave two or three impersonations of his own works. After a short intermission, his program consisted for the most part of makeup work. His reading "Cohan at the Telephone" was made more humorous by his makeup and facial expressions. Among his best numbers was a speech by a Dutchman with senatorial aspirations, an impersonation of a man who had imbibed too freely in the amber fluid and his last number which was a "simple minded kid act". The program was given under the auspices of the Kaukauna High School Athletic association.

LAFOLLETTE'S SON SHOWS HE IS CHIP OFF THE OLD BLOCK

Senator's Son Blames Nation's Economic Ills on Wall Street

"Present economic conditions are directly due to New York bank control of the railroads in the United States," said Philip LaFollette, son of Senator LaFollette, in his address at the courthouse Friday night. The place where the money is made by directors and stockholders of the railroads is in the repairing and supplying of equipment."

In introducing the speaker, W. D. Corrigan of Milwaukee, made a few statements concerning the life work of Senator LaFollette in attempting to strangle the alleged hold of the capitalists on big trust and organizations.

"By blocking the railroads the country would die just as the hand would die if its arteries were cut and tied, stopping the flow of blood," the junior LaFollette said in starting his address.

He said that from 1823, when the first steam railroad was built, to 1880 the federal government gave public lands to the railroads amounting to 155 million acres and took bonds aggregating $54,600,000 from the roads to encourage them in their attempts to connect all parts of the country. The various states took from the roads bonds totaling 238 million dollars and municipalities loaned them 188 million dollars, said Mr. LaFollette, showing that the government aided materially in building the roads.

PEOPLE TOOK RISKS
"The roads took no risks of any kind as all their capital and lands came from the people," he went on. "And now the roads place a valuation of 21 billions of dollars on their holdings but the actual value is 11 billions."

He said the reason the roads assessed their stock so high was because they could show that freight rates must be high to earn a reasonable return on the investment. Congressman Esch, author of the Esch-Cummings law, valued the railroads at 19 billions.

GUARANTEE PROFITS
Mr. LaFollette said that the Esch-Cummings law provided the private ownership of the roads because the author of the bill thought the government control of the roads during the war had weakened their use to the public. The bill also provided that the government should guarantee the private owners an income of 5 1/2 to 6 per cent of the gross valuation for a term of six months after the government had given the roads back to the individuals. This meant that freights must go higher as the rate of income was based on the three years of 1914 to 1917 when the roads were doing the best business in their history, hauling materials for the warring countries of Europe.

WHY MEN ARE IDLE
According to Mr. LaFollette, laborers were laid off in the railroad shops recently because the repair work and supplies were obtained from the outside concerns. He said in investigations proved that the repairs on an engine in the railroad shop cost $5,000 while the repairs on the same engine cost $16,000 in the Baldwin shops. This he said was where the money was made by the "insiders" on the board of directors, amounting to a "shoe" of from 300 to 400 per cent.

"Henry Ford bought a railroad and is making money on it. He petitioned the interstate commerce commission to lower his rates and the owners of the other roads made a big fuss," Mr. LaFollette said. "The men working on his road get higher wages than elsewhere and, according to Mr. Ford, every road can make money after reducing rates and paying higher wages if it is run properly. Mr. Ford is of the opinion that the railroad run by 'big interests' is the poorest business proposition in the world."

Believing that a man who preserves economic freedom is as great as he who preserves political freedom, Philip LaFollette said that he was going out to use all his strength in equalizing the distribution of wealth and to make living for others more worth while.

Doc Sammy Makes Sure Of "Interviewing"-Culprits

Did you ever have your clothes stolen from behind the bush at the old swimmin' hole? It gave you a sort of "gone" feeling, didn't it?

Lawrence college men who attend classes on the second floor of Carnegie library had the same feeling when they came from their 320 classes on Tuesday. They had left overcoats, caps, and gloves on the window sills and the railings above the stairway and when they came out, they were gone, every last one of them.

The culprit was Doc Sammy himself. He came trailing into his office after chapel dragging a fur collared coat by the neck and with his hand filled with caps and mittens. He dropped them on a nearby chair, went out again to come back stocked up with roofers and navy jackets enough to start a second hand store. He dropped these beside the first load in his private office.

He laughed when queried about his new clothing business and explained: "You see, the men's cloak room is in the basement, but the students prefer to leave their coats just outside the classroom door rather than to make the extra trip to the basement before and after class. It looks bad to have the wraps strung about the halls, so I bring them into my office occasionally so as to be sure of an interview with the offenders."

After the class, the young men followed their coats to the private office and were reminded of the location of the cloakroom in the basement.

WALKER KNOWN AS BRILLIANT TALKER

Expect Record Breaking Crowd at People's Forum Sunday Evening

Appleton men who attended the annual district Rotary convention at Fargo last winter remember Dr. Harry Garfield Walker, who speaks on the Nonpartisan league in Lawrence Memorial chapel Sunday evening, as one of the most brilliant orators at the big meeting. Dr. Walker discussed socialism at that conference and expects to touch on the same subject in his address before the People's Forum here.

Dr. Walker was selected to discuss the Nonpartisan league from the angle of its weaknesses and defects because of his intimate acquaintance with the league and its officers and because of his oratorical ability. He knows how to tell his story in an interesting manner.

The musical program prepared by Dean Waterman of Lawrence conservatory is up to the standard of excellence set this year. The program will begin at 7:30 and the speaker starts at 8 o'clock.

Preparations have been made to take care of the largest crowd of the year. The speaker and his subject are of intense interest here, giving rise to the belief that the big chapel will be well filled.

ONE TRAIN EACH WAY ON BRANCH RAILROAD

Under the new schedule that went into effect last week on the Northwestern line there is only one train a way each way between Hortonville and Oshkosh. This train leaves Hortonville at 10:10 a. m. and arrives in Oshkosh at 12:15 a. m. Returning the train leaves Oshkosh at 5:15 p. m. reaching Hortonville at 6:45 a. m.

Terminals will be made at Oshkosh and Kaukauna but schedules were not announced for the service between these cities. It is given that the reason for not announcing this schedule is that passengers will not be carried on that train. Kaukauna was selected as the northern terminal because a suitable roundhouse to shelter the engine is not available at Hortonville.

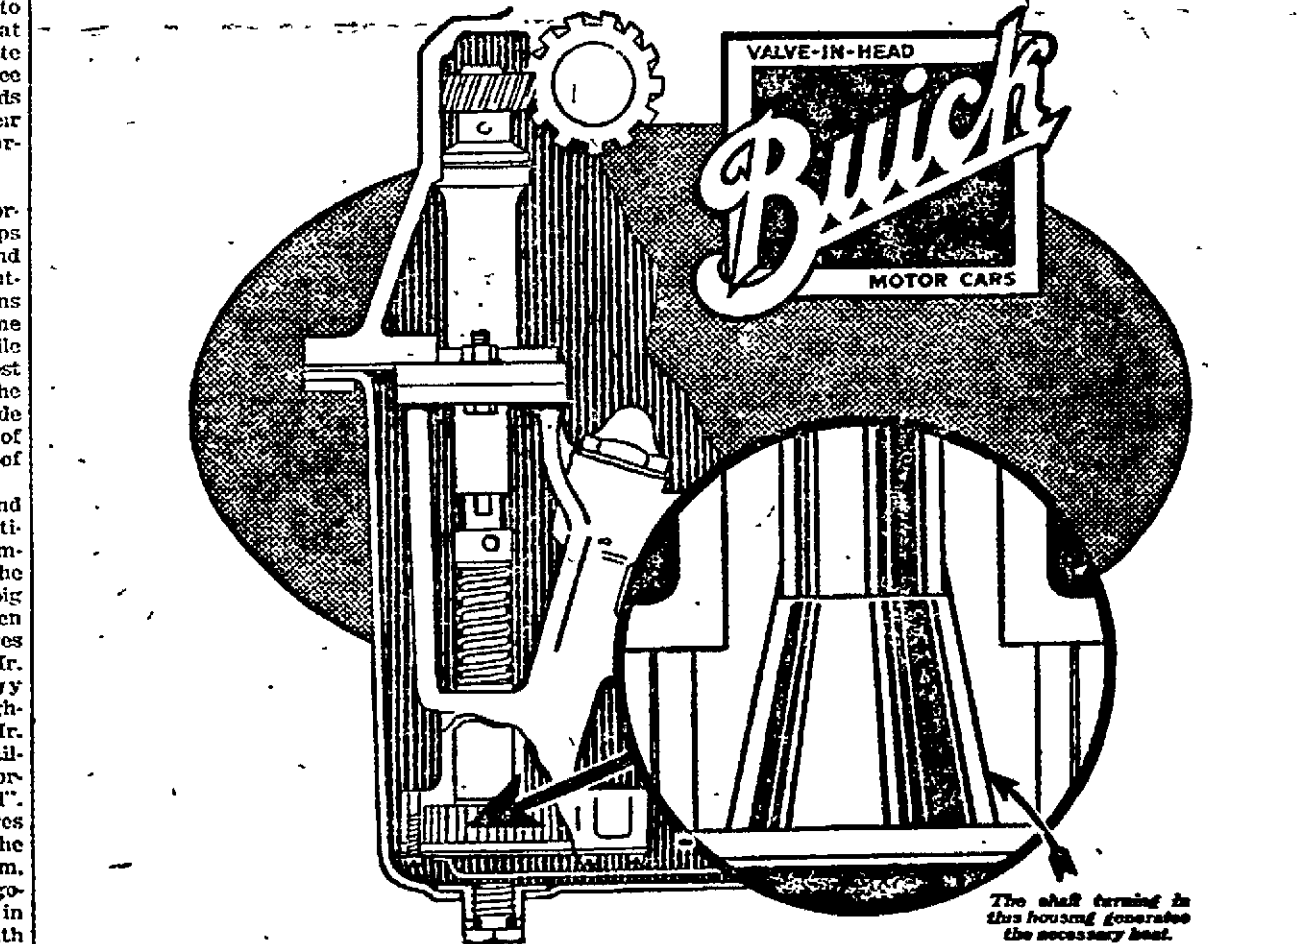

Two Hops to Lausanne
London—Passengers are now being booked for the air express from this city to Lausanne, Switzerland. The journey is made with only one stop, at Paris.

Freezing Weather Cannot Stop Buick Oil Circulation

Oil pumps in automobiles sometimes freeze up in very cold weather.

The Buick oil pump is so designed that, should the pump gears be held immovable through freezing, the shaft revolves within the gear. The heat thus generated thaws out the frozen parts, restoring gear action and oil flow to normal.

Only on a Buick will you find this feature.

IOWA WANTS MORE GAMES WITH FIRST DIVISION TEAMS

Big Ten Leaders Get Together on Schedule for Next Year

By United Press Leased Wire—Chicago—Western conference coaches unscrambled the schedule puzzle here Saturday.

Bodies drawing up schedules for football, baseball, swimming and track, athletic directors of western schools discussed changes in rules.

Two important revisions brought up were:

Lengthening of the football season from seven to eight games by an earlier start.

Permitting students to play professional baseball in the summer and still retain their amateur standing.

The shift, which was objected to when Notre Dame and other western teams played in the east, will not be abolished.

Iowa will probably go east to meet Yale on October 14. Coach Howard Jones stated, unless a conference game should interfere with that date, the Princeton-Chicago game will be played on October 28 at Stagg field, one week later than this year's game.

WOULD PLAY BADGERS

Generally, football schedules were not expected to be altered greatly from this year.

Minnesota, after three bad years, found it difficult to place games with so-called first division teams.

Iowa, this year's champions, endeavored to take on two additional important conference games in order to avoid charges of playing a light schedule. Coach Jones sought games with Ohio State and Wisconsin.

At these games are scheduled Iowa may drop Notre Dame.

Jack Wilce, Ohio mentor, seemed favorable to an Iowa game. There were no indications that Ohio would resume relations with Wisconsin.

Broken last year.

Coach Knute Rockne of Notre Dame announced his team would play Army on November 11 and Nebraska at Lincoln on Thanksgiving day. Rutgers will be dropped.

MENASHA BOWLERS WIN FIRST MATCH

The Menasha Motor Car bowling team won the first leg of its $100 series of games with the Arcade team of Appleton when it defeated the Arcades by 109 pins on the Menasha alleys Friday night. The Menasha outfit hit the wood for a score of 2,763 while the Arcades rolled 2,654. G. Pierce of the team was the individual star with a score of 252 in the first game.

A return match will be rolled on the Arcade alleys Thursday Dec. 9. A number of Menasha rooters will accompany the team.

TRACTORS DEFEAT BLACK CREEK FIVE

Fred Bushey's U. S. Tractor basketball team ran into real opposition at Black Creek Tuesday night but managed to defeat the village team, 40 to 24, after a hard battle. The villagers put up a whitewind game and were leading for several minutes.

Zapp and Gruenwald probably were the stars of the evening. Zapp is a former Bushey player and Gruenwald starred with the Marinette high school team of a few years ago.

Madson led in scoring for the Tractors. Bushey's team excelled in the passing game and was strong on the defense.

CURTAIN FALLS ON GRID GAME THIS AFTERNOON

By United Press Leased Wire—New York—Football plays up again Saturday for a sort of postmortem.

Penn State, carrying the crown of the east, plays Washington in Seattle. Washington and Jefferson's unbeaten eleven goes against the undefeated University of Detroit team in Detroit.

Against Washington Penn State has nothing to smile at, a lot of pressure to lose. California, which claims to be the greatest team in the world, beat Washington, 72 to 3, and if Penn State fails to score a hundred points and they will not score that many, the great team of Hugo Bezdek will be discounted on the coast.

FOND DU LAC SPECIALS LOOKING FOR GAMES

If there are any basketball teams in Appleton looking for action the Fond du Lac Specials will accommodate them, according to word from Ray Gruenwald, manager of the squad. The Specials are made up of former high school players and average about 150 pounds in weight. They are ready to meet any fast team in this section.

Games can be arranged by addressing Mr. Gruenwald at 268 N. Main-st., Fond du Lac.

Stuart Pulls New Stunt On Gridiron

SAM WHITE OF PRINCETON CHANGED THE COACHING RULES WHEN HE PICKED UP THE BALL AND RAN WITH IT

JOHNNY STUART OF OHIO STATE

STUART PICKS UP A FOOTBALL THE SAME AS A BASEBALL PLAYER SCOOPS A GROUNDER

If there was anything particularly new in football last season, Johnny Stuart, the fleet halfback of Ohio State contributed it.

Years ago when a ball was fumbled or a kick blocked, coaches had always taught their players that the proper thing to do was simply fall on the ball.

Then came a change in coaching methods, brought about by the quick thinking of a player. Back in 1911 Sam White won a game for Princeton, casting aside the conventional rule of falling on the ball, he picked it up and ran with it.

Harvard was the contending team. The Crimson blocked a kick on the Princeton 15-yard line. With the ball rolling around on the ground, Sam

White came on the scene. Instead of falling on the ball as had been his instructions, he picked it up on a short bound, and started for the Harvard goal. He covered 95 yards unmolested, scoring the touchdown that beat Harvard.

COACHES CHANGE SYSTEM

Coaches were quick to see the possibilities of the play that White had pulled. The next year they changed their instructions. Instead of a set rule that a player should always fall on a fumbled ball, or when a kick was blocked, coaches put it up to their men to use their own judgment.

The nature of the punt, very often makes it impossible for the man in the back field to catch the ball cleanly. Punts that strike the ground in front of the receiver are always dangerous. Coaches are very particular about this play because of the danger involved. Very often players permit the ball to roll until it has spent its force. Often a player on the kicking side falls on the ball, in order to prevent it from being run back.

STUART TAKES LONG CHANCES

Johnny Stuart of Ohio State is a star at baseball. He handles a football that is rolling along the ground, just as if it was a grounder in baseball. Stuart has thrown tradition to the winds in handling such punts. He races in on them just like an infielder, grabs them on the bound, and is on the way toward the opposition goal at full speed.

It is a long chance play, but Stuart has been most successful with it.

IRVINE NEW CAPTAIN OF BELOIT ELEVEN

Beloit, Wis.—Robert Irvine, star end, was elected captain of the 1922 Beloit college eleven at the annual football banquet at the Hotel Hilton Wednesday night. Irvine hails from New York City. He played on the Municipal Pier team, which claimed the national championship in 1918, with such stars as Johnson of Morrisville, Bentz of Montana, Block of Chicago, Koehler of Northwestern and Klea of Illinois.

He served in the navy two years and was discharged with the rank of ensign. He rowed on the college crew at Oxford university, England, the following year. He received his preliminary football training on the Culver Military academy team in 1916. "Irvine is one of the most aggressive players I have," says Coach Tommy Mills. "Irvine is a vivacious tacker. He is said by critics to be one of the best ends in the state."

Fourteen men were awarded the football "B" by the Beloit college athletic board. They are: Rossolo, Olson, McGaw, Dahlgren, Ingalls, Farrell, Irvine, Nelson, Radebough, Addie, Algeo, McLaughlin, Schacht and Rothbaum.

POSTPONE INTERCLASS BASKETBALL TOURNEY

The date for the interclass basketball tournament at the high school has been postponed from Tuesday, Dec. 6, to Tuesday, Dec. 12, to give all teams ample time to organize and practice. Robert Grant, a member of the high school faculty has been appointed official referee for the series of games which will determine the class championship. Team are working hard under the direction of members of last year's state championship basketball team who have been appointed as coaches.

SEND STRONG TEAM AGAINST TEACHERS

Interlake Squad Ready to Present Full Strength in Game With Normal

The Interlake Pulp and Paper Co. basketball team will present its full strength in the game with Oshkosh Normal school in Armory G Saturday evening. Two of the pulp mill team were absent Tuesday night when the millmen played the city league team.

Ten men will be available for use against the teachers. Day, Gardner, Wright and Welty will alternate at the forward positions. Gregory and Rush-ton are available for center, and Kesler, Baetz, Rock and Nofke will be ready to start as guards.

The normal school squad probably will not be as powerful as last year because of the loss of Bellow, Braisher and Webster by graduation. This year's team is built around Pugh, one of the principal scorers of last year's squad. Coach Hancock of the normal team expects to be well up in the race for the normal school championship.

LAWRENCE MATMEN WRESTLE BADGERS HERE IN JANUARY

University of Wisconsin Announces Dual Match With Local School

Lawrence college wrestlers have achieved their goal. The University of Wisconsin wrestlers team will come here to meet the Lawrence grapplers the night of Jan. 14. It was announced at a conference of athletic directors in Chicago on Friday. Lawrence has been negotiating for weeks for the big match.

With that big bout assured, the college grapplers will get down to hard work under the direction of George Hill, professional grappler. Hill has been drilling the men for several weeks and says they are rapidly rounding into shape.

A huge wrestling mat, 30 feet long by 15 feet wide, has been ordered for the team. Heretofore training facilities have been bad, handicapping the work to a great extent.

Lawrence is not well fortified in the heavier classes but will be well represented in the lightweight, welterweight and middleweight events.

BUSHEY PUT UP FINE GAME AGAINST EDISONS

The U. S. Tractor basketball team of Menasha, coached by Fred Bushey, lost to the New London Edison team on New London Friday night, 25 to 15. It was one of the best games ever played on the Edison floor. New London basketball followers declare this year's Edison team is the strongest which has ever represented the city.

Every member of the Bushey team scored in the last half when they played the Edison team to a standstill. Cameron Bushey aided the scoring when he dropped in a basket on a shot almost the length of the hall. The Edison team employed a five man defense which kept the Bushey from getting beyond the center of the floor.

FORESTERS PUT UP STIFF FIGHT BUT LOSE BATTLE

Local Team is Downed by Matthewsons at Sheboygan, 29 to 12

The Catholic Order of Foresters basketball team fell before the powerful Matthewson team of Sheboygan in Sheboygan Friday evening, 29 to 12. The score does not indicate the fierceness of the game, however. The Matthewsons outweighed the Foresters and showed considerable more experience but they were forced to extend themselves all during the game.

The Sheboygan team has asked for another game with the Foresters in February and it is probable arrangements will be made for the contest. Next Friday evening the local team will play the Hortonville city team at Hortonville.

Skall, right forward, scored four of the Foresters' six baskets. Verbrick dropped in one and Reider scored the other. Other members of the team were Hollenbach and Kamps, the latter playing center.

Only three fouls were called in the game—two on the Foresters and one on the Matthewsons.

IDEALS PLAY NEEHAH HUBS MONDAY EVENING

The Appleton Ideals, composed largely of college players, will play the Twin City Hubs in Neenah next Monday evening. The local team, it is said, will play the game for practice in preparation for opening of the season here. The Hub team is made up of Neenah and Menasha stars who have been playing together for years.

The Hubs have booked a game with the New London Edison team for Dec. 12. The Edison team has a strong team in the field and are looking for games with fast squads in this neighborhood. It is probable a number of local fans will journey to Neenah to see them in action.

KIMBERLY CAGERS WIN FIRST GAME

Second Mill Team Defeats Little Chute on Own Floor Friday Night

The Kimberly Reds, second basketball team at the Kimberly-Clark mill at Kimberly started the season Friday night, by defeating the Little Chute team in Watry's hall, Little Chute, 36 to 11. Mierow, forward on the Kimberly team, threw ten baskets. Love was the individual guarding star of the game.

The Kimberly team lined up with Mierow and Brier at forwards, Rosera at center, Gray, Gossens and Lowe at guards.

A. Franke, manager of athletics at the mill, is seeking games for the Kimberly Blues, first team at the mill. This squad won the industrial championship of the valley last year and is considerably stronger this season. Games can be arranged by addressing Mr. Franke at the mill.

The Reds team also is seeking games. This team was the leader in the minor industrial league last year.

BADGERS MAY DROP LAWRENCE GAME

By United Press Leased Wire—Milwaukee—Tom Jones, athletic director at the University of Wisconsin, passing through here last night, is reported to have affirmed the report that Notre Dame would be included on the Badger schedule next year. It was also rumored that Marquette University, Milwaukee, would find a place on the Badger schedule, but when questioned in this regard, Jones was reticent.

It is reported that the University of Wisconsin athletic board plans to drop Lawrence college and South Dakota Aggies from the 1922 schedule.

DAME PICKS HIS TEAM FOR FIRST GAME OF SEASON

Lawrence College Stars Make up Team in Professional Cage League

Manager George Dame of the Appleton team of the Central Wisconsin Baseball league has picked the team which will start in the first game in Green Bay next Wednesday evening. The home season will be opened the following evening with Fond du Lac as the opponent.

Appleton's team probably will rank among the best in the league if the team members live up to their reputation. Dame has lined up Gerhard Kubitz and Stanley Stark as his forwards, Norrmington as center, Waterpool and Taylor as guards. Kubitz has been a star with the Lawrence college team for several years and is said to be faster this season than ever before. Stark, formerly of Wisconsin Rapids, was an all state center in his high school days. Norrmington, also of Wisconsin Rapids, is one of the best forwards ever developed in the Wisconsin river valley. Waterpool, now coaching the Kaukauna high school team, was a Lawrence man, and Taylor's reputation is too well known to require comment.

The Oshkosh team of the valley league got off to a good start by defeating the Neenah Boosters in the first game of the season Wednesday night, 20 to 12, in a hard game.

BOEHME WINS SLOW BOUT FROM CARTER

By United Press Leased Wire—Milwaukee—In a slow and uninteresting bout, Eddie Boehme, Milwaukee, won over Tommy Carter, El Paso, Texas, in ten rounds here last night. The men are lightweights.

Mei Coogan, Brooklyn, was forced to the limit to win over Tony Dennis, Milwaukee lightweight in the semi-windup.

NO VIOLENCE AT BLACK HOME, JURY TOLD BY RECTOR

Witnesses Describe Events
Which Led up to Night
Trip to Kaukauna

The defense in the Black-Rector case called as its first witness Friday afternoon Postmaster Gustave Keller, who at the time of the alleged night raid was chairman of the Outagamie County Council of Defense. The other witnesses during the afternoon were Dr. A. E. Rector, Albert West, A. K. Ellis, D. J. Ryan, Dr. D. J. O'Connor and Stephen Balliet.

Mr. Keller, who was questioned by Attorney Martin, was shown Exhibit "I" which he identified as a pamphlet showing the state organization for the fourth liberty loan. After reading the names of the officers he was requested to turn to President Wilson's proclamation on an inner page, personal copies of which he said he received. The proclamation was introduced in evidence and read by Attorney Martin.

DESCRIBES LOAN PLAN
The witness was asked to give the structure of the local council of defense with reference to its composition and method of operation. He said the purpose of it was to carry out the patriotic work of the nation; selling bonds and assisting in any work upon which it might be called. The names of the officers and committees, which included those of several of the defendants, were read in to the record.

A detailed statement of how the council of defense conducted its work was given by Mr. Keller, especially relating to the sale of liberty bonds and the method of handling delinquents. If a person's allotment was too high he had the right to appeal and was given a hearing at county headquarters, he said.

"Now, approaching the fourth liberty loan and within a few days before the last day, what was the state of subscriptions with reference to the sum that had been allotted to this county?" inquired Attorney Martin.

NEEDED $300,000
"I recall very distinctly," said Mr. Keller, "that I called a meeting of the executive committee on the Wednesday preceding the close of the campaign. It closed on Saturday and on the Wednesday previous I called a meeting of the executive committee in the morning for the reason we were $300,000 under our allotment."

"We had made every effort we could think of to bring in subscriptions both by going out in the country, writing letters asking them to come into the general headquarters and everything else, so I presented this report to the committee and asked for suggestions as to what we might do further."

"The committee decided to see as many as possible and volunteers were called for. They solicited in groups, some in the morning, some in the afternoon and some at night as best suited their convenience."

Mr. Keller said he did not know who visited the home of Mr. West, because the solicitors split up in pairs. On cross examination Attorney Corrigan read portions of President Wilson's proclamation against mob violence in securing subscriptions to liberty bonds which he introduced in evidence.

RECTOR WAS CHAIRMAN
Dr. A. E. Rector said he was a member of the executive committee of Outagamie county council of defense and acted as chairman of the committee that visited Black's residence. Included in the committee were Albert West, George T. Prim, John Morgan, Lieut. Workman, Leslie Hanson, B. F. Goodrich and others. He got his instructions as to locality but did not know whom he was to see until he got to Kaukauna.

The occupants of Dr. Rector's car besides himself were Albert West, Lieut. Workman and John Morgan. They made a call at Little Chute and then went on to Kaukauna, where they met F. M. Charlesworth, Benj. Prugh, one of the defendants, and several others, all members of the committee of that city.

The witness said he went to Black's residence between 8:45 and 9 o'clock and asked Albert West and Lieut. Workman and a member of the Kaukauna committee to accompany him. He was not sure if the Kaukauna committee went into the residence, and was not aware anyone else was going to the Black home.

FOUND MEN UPSTAIRS
Dr. Rector said he rapped on the door and was admitted by Mrs. Black and was followed by West and Lieut. Workman. He informed Mrs. Black with whom he was acquainted that he represented the council of defense and asked to see Mr. Black. She said he was in bed and requested the witness to go up stairs and get the men down from his room. He went up stairs and discovered 4 or 5 men.

He inquired for Mr. Black and they told him he was in his room. He rapped on the door and informed the occupant who he was. Mr. Black said he wanted time to dress and then opened the door. They went down stairs accompanied by West and Lieut. Workman who had also gone up stairs. Dr. Rector gave the details about securing the subscription, but said he did not know any of the men down stairs or up stairs. He denied that anyone said "get a rope or a ladder, we will get him" or that any violence was used. Mr. Black did not appear pale or nervous and in fact was very quiet.

NO PART IN VISIT
A. K. Ellis, general superintendent of the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power Co., related the fatal accident twenty years ago that befell a child of Mr. Black's who was killed by an interurban car and a later incident when one of his cows got caught in a "cow pass" and was ques-

Children To Have Their Own Library Department

Part of Library is to be Devoted to Exclusive Use of Youngsters

Appleton at last can boast of a children's library, a feature of the Free Public Library that has been desired for some time. The rooms are in readiness but their general use will not be permitted until the Christmas displays of children's books for the benefit of parents and teachers are cleared away Saturday of next week.

Appleton adults are appreciative of the idea inaugurated by Miss Florence C. Day, librarian, to guide purchasers in their choice of suitable juvenile books as Christmas gifts. Relying on the careful selection of reading matter which always is a library rule, those who visit the children's library are able to go to the table where the particular kind of books they are interested in is on display. With this guidance they are then able to order the books they want from local booksellers or from publishers.

TEACHERS INVITED
Miss Day is desirous that every parent and teacher in Appleton call some time during the next week at any hour when the library is open and see the new books which later will be put on the shelves. An idea then can be gained of the kind of reading matter provided the youth. Fairy tales, fiction for young, nonfiction and other divisions of reading are classified and each is put on a table by itself.

On Monday, Dec. 12, the children will be ushered into their attractive new reading room in the southeast corner of the building. Here they will find tables to suit their height, with new, comfortable chairs to fit the tables. Some of the books will be on shelves around the walls and the remainder in the room previously used for these purposes.

The children's librarian will have her desk in a corner of the front room, where she will give exclusive attention to the youthful readers, making it unnecessary for them to go into the adult departments. The librarian will assist children to select their books and give reading suggestions.

"What we will do now is only the start of what we hope to provide in the future for the children," said Miss Day. "We are happy that the children have a place of their own after waiting so long, and we intend to add other features as we go along."

tioned as to Mr. Black's conduct at those times.

Dr. D. J. O'Connor said he and Stephen Balliet started for Greenville that night, but before getting out of the city limits changed their mind and went to Kaukauna because of a message Mr. Balliet had for Dr. Rector, who had gone to that part of the country. He took no part in soliciting a subscription from Mr. Black and did not see who entered or left his home.

LISTENED TO BALLARD
Stephen Balliet said he was a member of the executive committee, also a member of the committee on organization of the Outagamie county council of defense and that he went to Kaukauna to see Dr. Rector on the night in question. He made stops at Hotel LaSalle and Jack's home before finally locating him at the Black residence.

D. J. Ryan was questioned concerning a visit Mrs. Black made to his home in the town of Buchanan in which she said Ballard had visited her and wanted "to start an action against the defendants."

REDUCE DEFICIT OF WATER DEPARTMENT

Municipal Utility Shows Substantial Profit for Month of October

Finances of the municipal water department are gradually assuming better shape, according to the report for the month of October submitted to the water commission at its meeting Thursday afternoon by Fred Morris, secretary of the commission, in which a profit for that month of $1,227.61 was announced.

The department, operating under the lower rates in effect at that time began the year 1921 with a deficit of approximately $31,000. Each month's receipts has reduced the amount until now it is only $19,038.12, and will be perhaps $2,000 lower by the end of the year.

A substantial amount has been kept in the reserve fund, but part of this will be taken up for the former tax deficit when the November report is submitted next month.

Salaries and accounts amounting to $1,150.65 were allowed by the commission.

HOW WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

May Escape the Dreaded Sufferings of That Period by Taking Mrs. Black's Advice

Hopkins, Minn.—"During Change of Life I had hot flashes and suffered for two years. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the paper and got good results from taking it. I recommend your medicine to my friends and you may publish this fact as a testimonial."—Mrs. ROBERT BLOCK, Box 542, Hopkins, Minn.

It has been said that not one woman in a thousand passes this perfectly natural change without experiencing a train of very annoying and sometimes painful symptoms. Those dreadful hot flashes, sinking spells, spots before the eyes, dizzy spells, nervousness, are only a few of the symptoms. Every woman at this age should profit by Mrs. Black's experience and try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., about your health.

Our Christmas Club is a plan to help everyone accumulate money for Christmas, Vacations, Taxes, Insurance, Investment or personal needs.

It is intended to teach and encourage the habit of economy by regular depositing part of the money earned. This habit, so easily formed by regular deposits in the Christmas Club, becomes fixed and steady and of untold value in the future.

Our Christmas Club is not alone for money earners who wish to lay aside money for Christmas needs or a rainy day, but also for business and professional men who may wish to accumulate "ready money" which can be used in case of emergency.

The Plan of the Club is simple; you merely bring in your first deposit and we give you a Christmas Club pass book, showing the Club you have joined and amount deposited.

Payments are due weekly or in advance.

The following table explains the different Clubs:

LETTERS TO LOVERS

In The Name Of Love

By Winona Wilcox

In the north the silver fox provides trappers with pelts of great value. Silver fox farming has been widely advertised as a way to make money. But this kind of fur farming contains a hazard. The silver fox is monogamous. If his mate dies, he can hardly be induced or persuaded to accept a substitute.

Facts about monogamy in the animal world caused an inquirer to ask why loyalty in love seems to be so difficult for some men.

Probably few men can answer that. But most men can say honestly that when a man marries his intentions toward his wife are invariably of the best. Obviously, no man asks a girl to wear his name, no man promises to devote his energy to the support of a home and a wife unless he is at the time sincere.

But when a man marries his troubles begin—with himself. They begin because he does not understand his own nature. Educated and uneducated lovers are alike in this ignorance. Nowhere in any scheme of education so far devised, nowhere in tradition as handed down from father to son is there any correct instruction concerning the greatest problem in a man's existence.

This is the problem of his instability in love and the explanation of his fickleness.

Some men have boasted that they never flirted with a girl until they had been married 10 years. And some couldn't say that after 10 months. Some follow the Freudian code. They believe that flirtations are not to be avoided by the normal man. They reason that therefore a man is entitled to as many as chance his way.

Men of honor who never would lie to another man will readily lie to a woman—in the name of love!

But when a man does this, his matrimonial bark begins to rock and if it doesn't topple over, it is because some sane little wife has balanced it with a mixture of common sense, patience, understanding, forgiveness and love.

Why a man grows indifferent to his "house companion" has lately been discovered by the biologists. Thus cold science once more explains sentiment. Unfortunately, the information is hidden away in dry scientific treatises, often under a mass of words, some of them so new that they cannot be found in the average dictionary.

The secret of man's varied interest in women, his indifference to the one he selected for his mate, in short, the polygamous nature betrayed by many males, is conceded by science to be fundamental. It is inherent in his nature.

But does that mean that he must remain a slave to it?

Not by any means. While one science explains why man flirts from flower to flower, another explains why he need not do so.

Man has been endowed with a will. He has insisted that woman use her will to become contentedly monogamous. She has done so. He can do so. If he chooses, he can give to his mate the same loyalty he demands of her.

He will do so—perhaps when schools, churches, physicians and psychologists unite to teach him the truth about his mental make-up.

Tea Delicacies

Delicious wafers for afternoon tea may be made from ordinary pie crust. When eggs are high these little fancies are very admirably to take the place of cookies.

As these little pastries are very rich they should be small. Dough should be richer than for common pie and all ingredients should be chilled thoroughly.

To make dough, use 1 cup flour, 1/2 cup lard, 1/2 teaspoon salt, cold water. Rub lard in flour and salt. Add water, a few drops at a time, until dough is moist enough to stick together. Put on a floured molding board or marble slab and roll to 1/4 inch thickness. Cut with cookie cutter. Dampen slightly. Sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon and bake in hot oven. When crust is set add drop or two of water to the sugar. Bake until sugar is melted and of a pale straw color.

PASTRY SANDWICH

Another pastry is made in the form of a sandwich.

Roll rich pie dough very thin, less than 1/4 inch thick. Chop dates and English walnuts and moisten with enough water to make a bit sticky. Spread this on half of the sheet of dough, fold the other half over and roll over lightly with the rolling pin. Bake in a hot oven and cut in bars 1/2 of an inch wide and two inches long when cool.

PASTRY ROLLS

Little rolls with marmalade filling are delicious with tea.

Roll the dough very thin. Spread lightly with butter and then with a generous supply of orange marmalade. Roll up like a jelly roll and cut into inch slices. Bake in hot oven till a delicate brown. The suggestion of bitterness in the marmalade is delightful with tea. Tiny cinnamon rolls are made the same way. The sheet of dough is sprinkled with sugar and cinnamon, mixed, and then rolled and sliced.

APRICOT AND COCONUT TART-LETTES

Roll dough very thin and cut in three-inch squares. Moisten each corner and fold over to meet in the center. Cover the joint with a little circle of dough. Bake in a hot oven 15 minutes. Remove and let cool. Put some apricot jam on each corner and sprinkle with coconut, freshly grated or the desiccated. Any other combination of jam and coconut or ground nuts may be used. Raspberry jam is delicious with coconut. Strawberry jam and chopped pistachio nuts are good.

A pastry to serve with chocolate is made with a marshmallow.

Cut the dough as in the preceding recipe, put a stale marshmallow in the center before folding the corners. Fold corners over marshmallow, cover with a bit of dough and bake in a moderately hot oven till crust is done and marshmallow soft.

Adventures of the Twins

Olivia Roberts Barton

THE NET

Away off in the bay, Mr. Fisherman stretched his net. There it floated beneath the waves, securely fastened at the corners to big pound poles driven down into the sand at the bottom of the water.

Every morning he took out the net and every night he brought it in. In the morning he would hook it into place under the water so cunningly that the people in the Land of the Wigglefish never suspected it was there and would swim right into its entrapping folds. At night he would gather it in, with its slipping burden, return to shore, and sort his catch according to weight, size and kind and sell it to market people.

After a time the Wigglefish got to know this, at least all the daddies and mothers knew, and all the little Wigglefish had been warned over and over to keep away from the bay and the pound-poles, as repeatedly as Cutie Cottontail had been warned by his parents to beware of Reddy Fox in Helter Skelter Land. But there were always careless people, and adventurous people, and people who won't take advice, in the water as well as on dry land, and there never was a night that Mr. Fisherman didn't take home a full net.

There was one person whom Mr. Fisherman was most anxious to catch, and that was Tub Terrapin. Tub made grand eating and would have brought a grand price as many of his relatives had done. But Tub knew all this and never went near a net. And Mr. Fisherman knew that Tub knew, and was trying to think up another way of landing him.

So when Tub Terrapin came along and lay down right at one of the busiest corners in Wigglefish Land and right on top of Spike Starfish, Crawly Crab, and some others, Cap'n Pennywinkle thought of the net at once, and that was why he sent the Twins for it.
